Find Difficulties In Instigating Road Repairs

The Newmarket council's proposal for resurfacing and widening the present paved streets, introduced by Reeve A. D. Evans and Councillor Frank Bowser last week, met with problems at council meeting Monday night. No action has been taken by council yet. Legislation governing a local improvement plan offers a municipality four means by which it can put such a project into effect, none of which council finds convenient to employ.

In addition, acting town solicitor, K. M. R. Stiver, pointed out that by only one of the four means of introducing the public improvement plan can the town finance all the work proposed by Mr. Evans' motion.

A local improvement plan can be set into motion, according to existing legislation, by one of these four ways: a petition from property-owners, a plan by which council takes the initiative, a recommendation by the department of health or improved sanitation measures or another initiative plan whereby a public hearing must be called by the Ontario municipal board. If the last plan is adopted, property-owners may petition against the project.

Only by the first plan can all work recommended by Mr. Evans and Mr. Bowser be financed by a local improvement plan. Their recommendation was for widening and resurfacing present paved streets and construction curbs, gutters and storm sewers.

To undertake all the desired construction, the petition plan must be adopted. This would mean that a petition favoring the work would be required, representing two-thirds of half the value of the property on these streets.

CRIBBAGE WINNERS

On Thursday evening, Jan. 19, a cribbage was held in the Legion hall, Aurora. The following were the prize winners: ladies' high, Mrs. Jack Matten; men's high, Mr. H. Richards.

Highest point in any one hand, Mrs. D. Watson.

Sparkling Program As Aurora Arena Officially Opened

Saturday night, the Aurora Memorial Arena will be officially opened in a ceremony that will mark the climax of 12 months of hard luck and hard work. The first plans for the arena were tendered in February of 1949 and since that time, no stone has been left unturned to complete the job.

When the idea was first thought of, a committee of three men was appointed to fully investigate all types of artificial ice plants and present to the council brief containing their findings. This committee consisting of H. M. McKenzie, F. P. Underhill and A. M. Cousins worked with such enthusiasm that two months later, with the help of a co-operating town council, put the matter before the public in the form of a vote which was carried unanimously in favor of progressing with the plans for artificial ice.

When work was finally started on the actual installation of the freezing unit a jinx befell the rink commission and remained in their company until early in

SEES ARENA COLLAPSE, SAVES CHILDREN

Climaxing a series of mishaps, some of them fatal, the community arena at Chesterville, Ont., collapsed in the recent gales and trapped nearly a score of children. Charles Abel, shown in photo, working on the wreckage of the arena, saw the building collapse and ran to pry up a portion of the building to allow the children to escape. Among the first to come out were his three sons who had been playing hockey in the arena.

ART CLUB SHOW IN TOWN HALL THIS WEEKEND

Newmarket Art club will hold its sixth show in the town hall this coming weekend. Open to the public from 2 to 10 p.m. on both Saturday and Sunday, afternoon tea will be served by the members of the Newmarket Handcraft Group. Proceeds from tea will go to the Save the Children Fund.

The Photographic club has been invited to exhibit its work at the show. Those in the Art club who will hang paintings are Mrs. W. R. Stephens, Mrs. Delbert Gibney, Ross Hugo, W. J. Hopkinson, R. L. Chadwick and F. Denison. Music will be provided for the occasion by Stewart Beare.

Present Howard Hugo With Service Diploma

Howard Hugo was presented with a Horticultural Service Diploma by the Newmarket Horticultural Society at the annual meeting which was held in the town hall on Tuesday evening. Mr. Howard Proctor, vice president, made the presentation on behalf of the organization.

The diploma is in recognition of 27 years of active service to the society and to Newmarket through the encouragement of an interest in horticulture in the town. Mr. Hugo is past president of the society and was a charter member. Since 1923 he has served at some time on every committee in the organization. Each society is entitled to award one diploma year.

Approve Of Wing For High School, Resent Control

A majority of the municipal councils in the Newmarket-Sutton high school district have given their approval to the building of additions to Newmarket and Sutton high schools. On Monday night both Newmarket and Whitchurch township passed resolutions favoring the school wings. Although Newmarket gave its tentative resolution favoring a debenture for a high school wing here, there were expressions of disapproval toward provincial legislation which, members of council claim, limits a municipal council's freedom of action.

According to the town solicitor, council could either vote in favor or against building high school wings but legally could not hold a vote by the property owners of the town.

K. M. R. Stiver, the solicitor, said that according to legislation, if a majority of the municipalities vote in favor of the school additions, the project can be carried out. A majority of the five and a half municipalities, Newmarket, North Gwillimbury, East Gwillimbury and Whitchurch have approved already. With only half of Whitchurch in the school district, the total is three and a half which have approved. Only Sutton and Georgina remain to indicate their attitude toward the building program.

"The only thing wrong with this," said Mayor Vale, "is that the Newmarket property owners said by a vote ten years ago that they did not want to finance a school wing. Now it is going through whether the taxpayer wants it or not."

The existing provincial legislation does not give us the opportunity of asking the man who will pay for it, whether he wants it or not.

Both Deputy-reeve J. L. Spillert and Councillor Rudy Renzlius pointed out that there was no vote taken on the public school debenture nor the artificial ice debenture.

"Well, it's not right," said the mayor.

"But we can't take over and do the work that the department of education does," declared J. O. Dales.

"But it is getting more and

DIABETES SURVEY

No diabetes survey clinic will be held at York County hospital as reported last week. The next clinic will be held at Alexander Muir school starting the week of Jan. 31. The first night appointments will be taken Jan. 31 at Public Health Nurse's Office on Botsford St. on Jan. 31.

FARES REMAIN SAME

Taxi fares, which were to have risen to 45 cents on the first of February, will remain at the present level of 35 cents, according to a decision reached by the proprietors of Vets Taxi and Newmarket Taxi this week.

The volunteer Aurora fire brigade was summoned at 1:05 a.m. and were one of the last brigades to leave the village. Help was also called from North York, Unionville, Toronto, and Richmond Hill.

Many Aurora citizens raced to the scene of the tragic fire and several of them were seen helping to carry furniture from the danger area. A breeze blow-

PICKERING BOY INJURED BY EXPLOSION

Peter Booth, 16, a student at Pickering College, suffered severe burns to the hands and face last Thursday when chemicals which he had taken from the laboratory without permission, exploded. His one hand and eye were badly damaged by the explosion. The injuries were treated at the Hospital for Sick Children and the school has received a favorable report on his condition.

According to headmaster R. E. K. Rourke, the student had taken the chemicals from the laboratory when another student had unlocked the door and gone in to inspect a tap he had repaired on one of the tables. Booth had entered the room while it was unlocked by the other student and took five chemicals including phosphorous and sulphur which he mixed in a test tube.

"I believe it is necessary that the northern municipalities of the county acquire all the information possible, from some source, regarding the financial set-up of northern municipalities relative to present county finances," said Mr. Spillert.

County municipalities not included in the possible annexation would be all those north of and including Woodbridge, Vaughan twp., Markham and Markham twp. up to Georgina twp. at the top of the county. Mr. Spillert said he believes that these municipalities share 13 percent of county assets and liabilities at the present time.

"We want to get all the figures we can and discuss the financial position of the 14 northern municipalities so that we will be able to decide whether we are for or against the annexation of the southern municipalities by Toronto," said Mr. Spillert.

"Some of the things the northern municipalities would be called upon to finance in the event of annexation would be county judges, county courts, magistrate's courts, a registry office and the county police force. We

Officials Confident Ammonia System No Danger To Rink

No surprise nor worry has been expressed by the officials of the Aurora Arena concerning the announcement that the Canadian Refrigeration Manufacturers' Association has condemned the Ontario department of labor in permitting the installation of direct ammonia refrigeration systems in hockey, skating and curling rinks.

According to rink commission chairman F. P. Underhill, full investigation before the installation of the direct ammonia system in Aurora Arena resulted in finding that there was little danger in using ammonia. Mr. Underhill explained that the danger if any would occur when a leak breaks in one of the pipes and the odor of ammonia fills the arena, it then, might cause a panic among the skaters or spectators. Already, several leaks have been found in the Aurora Arena and no panic has resulted from any of them, and there will not likely be any in the future.

The engineer of the John Inglis Company who is in charge of the Aurora Arena freezing unit explained that with a low pressure valve similar to the one at the Aurora Arena, there is no danger.

Mr. Garnet McCandless secretary of the C.R.M.A. said that ammonia passes through the pipes of such a system and that a serious leak would cause a major panic in public assemblies Candless said.

"This association feels that the minister of labor should review with care the enormous responsibility entailed by his decision and must be prepared to accept the responsibility should an accident occur," Mr. McCandless said.

A rink which uses the direct expansion ammonia system is cheaper to build but over the years, through constant wear, could be dangerous. Manufacturers feel the saving of $2,000 or $3,000 does not justify the danger which would accompany it.

Mr. McCandless said the minister of labor had disregarded the recommendation of code committee of the Canadian Standards association and had issued orders to permit installation of direct expansion ammonia rinks

Aurora Horse Show Elects Walter Wood

Walter Wood, R. R. 2, Aurora, was unanimous choice for president of the Aurora Horse Show at its meeting held at the Odd Fellows' Hall last Saturday. In addressing the well attended meeting, Mr. Wood said that it would be hard to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Alex McLennan who sat in the president's chair for 1949.

Following is a list of other members of the executive also elected or appointed on Saturday: first vice pres., Chalmers Black; second vice pres., Robert Hollingsworth; chairman of the board, S. P. Jarvis; sec., A. E. Vaughan; committee chairmen, Wm. Kettlewell, S. P. Jarvis, M. C. Richardson, A. L. Cousins, Chalmers Black, John Wood, Geo. Painter, Chauncey Connors, Charles Casey and Les Beazer.

HIGHWAY CAR TOLL

deadly the highways can be," he said.

Inspector Page said the car was the greatest single cause of death to children. "A child's foot has no brake," he said while warning drivers to go slowly past areas where children were likely to be playing. He said that 40 percent of the drivers on the road are not fit to drive, either because of incompetency or ignorance of safety rules. "Our driving tests are not strict enough," he added.

"When children are taught to drive by their parents, the same bad habits are passed on. We send our children to school to learn their three R's. We should send them to reputable driving instructors to learn how to drive."

Inspector Page emphasized the folly of mixing alcohol with gasoline. "Whatever else a drink may do, it certainly slows down your reaction time," he said. "You cannot drink and drive safely too. Yet there is always someone who wants to try it and ends up in an accident."

Highway traffic safety is a matter of community co-operation. The accident toll can be reduced if all of us work at it, he concluded.

Nick Malko Acquitted Of Manslaughter Charge

A jury under Chief Justice McRuer acquitted Nick Malko, 37, Bradford market gardener, of motor manslaughter. The charge arose from an accident on No. 11 highway near Newmarket in which Samuel McKee, St. John's Rd., Toronto, was killed on July 16.

Malko's automobile collided with Malko's truck. Evidence showed that a car had cut in front of Malko's truck suddenly and caused him to slow down and turn into the path of the oncoming car driven by McKee.

subject to some safety equipment.

However, each statement made by the Canadian Refrigeration Manufacturers' Association has been denied by Aurora officials. While the present freezing plans for the Aurora Arena call for 30-pound of air pressure, the government tested it at 150 pounds of air pressure to insure its safety.

Farmers Voice Opinions At O.F.A. Convention

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture met in Toronto last week. The Women's Division opposed daylight saving time and the sale and manufacture of oleomargarine except when butter was in short supply. They asked that a dye should be used in flour sacks, etc., that could be easily removed or patterned material used as is done in the U.S.

The joint convention asked the prices support board to use the $200 million set aside for the help of the industry at present, endorsed the idea of the world wheat agreement, encourage purchase of British goods where possible. They supported co-operative insurance, radio and press relations, the advertising of agricultural products and asked the government to process surplus fruit products for the United Kingdom.

A resolution of congratulation was heartily endorsed to Mr. H. H. Hannam who is now president of International Producers, and received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws and Letters at St. Francis Xavier University, N.S. "Herb" taught school at Queen's University in the early 20's and has been an official of farm organizations since 1928, operates a farm outside Ottawa and finds time to attend farm radio forum.

Report Stresses Aid To Veterans

The Newmarket branch of the Canadian Legion spent over $800 last year in Newmarket on direct urgent aid to veterans. A further sum of over $400 also was spent from the poppy fund for emergency aid.

This was pointed out by the meeting executive recently at a meeting of the new executive when funds were handed over and the auditor's report was concluded. The auditor's report of the local branch is sent into Provincial Command.

The Legion aid was not extended to members of the Legion alone; all veterans in the district had the right to call on this help, it was stated. The pensions officer, Wm. LeParde, reported that pensions payment over the past year in Newmarket alone had been increased by $5,545 because of the efforts of the Legion.

Immediate past president T. M. Ewing pointed out that one of the prime reasons for the Legion's existence was veterans' welfare work.

The monthly general meeting will be held Monday, Jan. 30. President Cec. Jarvis brings to the attention of all members that the initiation of members

Murray Cupples Third Ontario Tractor Rodeo

In the provincial finals of the Junior Farmers' farm equipment and safe driving competition held in Toronto on Thursday, Jan. 19, with over 300 young men from all corners of the province competing, Murray Cupples, representing York county, placed third. Top honors went to Donald Steckle, Essex, while Howard Fawcett, Brantford, placed second.

Murray Cupples' excellent showing is a fitting reward for the necessary hours of practice and study since he was declared winner of the county competitions held at the King and Vaughan and East York plowing matches last fall.

The day long competition featured a written examination and a mechanical defects test during the morning and an exhibition of precision and safe driving during the afternoon. When the results of these three events were totalled, the five highest contestants were asked to drive again and the score obtained on the second run was added to the previous total.

Ice over Canada's northern Cambridge Bay has been estimated to have been 2,000 feet thick during the glacial period.

Newmarket Era and Express

Serving Newmarket, Aurora and the rural districts of North York

The Newmarket Era 1852

The Express Herald 1895

Published every Thursday at 142 Main St., Newmarket, by the Newmarket Era and Express Limited. John A. Meyer, editor. Subscription $4 for two years, $2.50 for one year, in advance. Single copies are 5c each. Member of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association and the Audit Bureau of Circulations. Authorized as Second Class Mail, Post Office Department, Ottawa.

Pages from the Editor's Notebook

Mrs. Louise Reilly writes from Richmond Hill to renew her subscription to the Era and Express for two years, and enclosing two old pictures which she clipped from early issues of the paper. Unfortunately we will be unable to reproduce them unless the original photographs or the plates can be located. However, the names of those photographed will be of interest to the older readers.

The first photograph is of the Newmarket Bicycle club of 1887 with the members lined up on their bicycles with the huge front wheels and small rear wheels. Names of the members photographed are: George Bastedo, Edgar Bogart, James Lowe, Lou Kellman, Tom Watson, George Hewitt, Bert Cane, Walter Sutherland, Al Binnis, Johnny Hughes, Henry Lowe and Frank Milford. The members of the club are wearing grey uniforms.

The second photograph is of the Newmarket Citizens' Band of 1883 and was taken at Niagara Falls. Amos Hughes was the leader of the band. Photographed with him were Fred Saxton, Mr. Dales, Silas Soules, N. J. Roadhouse, Bert Cane, Stanley Scott, Mr. Doan, Fred Bogart, James Moffatt and Mr. Hilborn. The members of the band are wearing broad-brim hats, long coats with brass buttons.

It was thoughtful of Mrs. Reilly to send us the clippings and we hope other readers who have old photographs, early issues of the Era, and other mementos of the past will loan them to us because in the next two years, the Era and Express will be celebrating its 100th birthday. It's early of course to forecast our plans for that year but we are certain of our need for all old pictures and other matter which will help us recreate the story of Newmarket during the paper's lifetime.

Quite often, clippings from the Era and Express are found in attics and old trunks. They are frequently thrown out because the finders, having no interest in them, know of no value to them nor of a place to send them. We would certainly appreciate it if such clippings were sent to us. Old papers are particularly important. There are gaps in our files and often, these old papers help fill them.

A few months ago, a weekly contemporary, celebrating its birthday, put forth claims to being the oldest weekly paper in Canada. And in the next few weeks, the editorial columns of a dozen or more weeklies buzzed with counter-claims. We don't know how the age of the Era and Express compares with other weeklies but we must be among the ten oldest in Ontario.

The Editorials: Keeping That Community Spirit

The installation of artificial ice in the Newmarket Community Memorial Arena was first and foremost an expression of community spirit. There was evident while the job was underway a strong sense of working together in a common purpose which would benefit the community. Such a community asset as this spirit is a precious thing, but unless it is constantly exercised, it will evaporate.

In recent years, there has been little evidence of a community spirit. The artificial ice project marked its rebirth. The question is: The job done, will that willingness, that ability to work together and share in a common purpose, again be lost or can it be exercised upon other projects?

There is certainly no lack of possibilities, foremost of which is a swimming pool. Newmarket has the sites—a choice of several including the proposed site on Bogartown creek—and the know-how for a job like that. All that is needed is leadership, official endorsement from the council, and a demonstration of the same kind of will to help that brought artificial ice here.

But let us not make the mistake of letting the same men do the job. Well over 100 men and boys bent their backs and blistered their hands in manual labor at the arena, not to mention the countless others who gave time and thought to the planning and organization of the project. Let's give them a rest. There are plenty of others willing and able who for one reason or another were unavailable for the arena project. Given the chance, we are willing to bet that they could sink a swimming pool in jiffy time if the job were undertaken.

Size Is Penalized

A potential water shortage in North York twp. has forced a halt in the extensive building programs under way in the municipality. The township has appealed for help from Toronto. At the time of writing, little hope is offered by the city.

North York township's situation is part of the same general condition which inspired Mayor Hiram McCallum to suggest in all seriousness that guests at hotels in Toronto be taxed for their use of hotel rooms. Toronto has become so large that it has become an uneconomical operation. The city's growth has exceeded the ability of its residents to pay for its services. Size has strained North York township's ability to supply water. And while a way will probably be found to alleviate both situations, the relief will at the best be temporary if both municipalities continue to grow. At the same time, fresh problems immediately related to growth will continue to plague them.

There are limits to the size of municipalities, limits placed by the ability of citizens to pay for services, and by the ability of the municipality to provide adequate facilities. The idea is still firmly entrenched in the minds of many that as population expands, the increased number of citizens can finance their own share of municipal services. That is folly of the worst sort as the example of Toronto and North York indicate.

There is only one answer to Toronto's and North York's problems: a policy of decentralization which would distribute the populations of those two centres, and all other centres whose growth has mushroomed beyond the limits of common sense, over a larger area. Municipal governments are becoming planning conscious but they have yet to encourage a forthright policy which extends beyond municipal boundaries. The spread of industry into small centres is an encouraging indication, but the situation of Toronto and North York shows that decentralization must be encouraged to move far more rapidly than it is now.

Historical Sites

The article upon the development and maintenance of historical sites in last week's issue of The Era and Express has caused much comment. "We have driven by the Friends' Meeting House on Yonge St. almost daily and never before realized that it was anything other than a farm building," we were told by one. Another expressed surprise that Holland Landing pre-dated Newmarket. "We had always thought the name came from the Dutch farmers on the marsh."

There were other comments, expressing enthusiasm for a program of renovation of historical sites, offering suggestions as to how this was to be done. It was felt by a few that the major problem was to arouse sufficient local interest in historical projects. We doubt if this is a serious difficulty. There are many in Newmarket whose relationship to early pioneers in this district has encouraged a strong interest in historical sites. The Women's Institutes have been at work on historical projects for many years; the members represent an important group who in all likelihood would support such a project.

It seems to us the difficulty locally lies in lack of leadership and direction. The interest is there; what is needed is an organization which could encourage that interest towards a concrete objective such as marking historical sites, renovating landmarks, building up historical collections. There is a county society but it attracts few members from this area. Possibly, a Newmarket and district branch of the county society might be the best form such an organization could assume.

We would welcome any further suggestions along this line. Although there appears to be an awakened interest in historical matters in the provincial government, the real direction should come from local groups.

Another Trade Problem

Mica is an invaluable war material. It is essential as an insulator in radio tubes, radar equipment, condensers, airplane sparkplugs. Last year, the United States produced only 135 tons of mica and had to import another 10,000 tons from India and Brazil. Last week, it was announced in Washington that scientists had found a way to make synthetic mica. There is much to be done before the process can be used commercially but when it is, it will mean that the United States will have become self-sufficient in still another product and Brazil and India will lose their U.S. market.

The United States has achieved self-sufficiency in many thousands of products which were formally imported from abroad. As a scientific achievement, it is without equal. Its impact upon world trade, however, does not draw cheers. The United States produces large surpluses of goods which are marketed abroad. Those nations who produce U.S. goods earned the dollars for their purchases by sales of their goods to the U.S. As the U.S. achieves its high degree of self-sufficiency, those sales become increasingly smaller and correspondingly, the purchases from the U.S. must become smaller, although the need for U.S. goods continues.

Trade must function in two directions if it is to be maintained and be profitable. When to the protective tariff barriers which the U.S. has erected is added the additional handicap of self-sufficiency in an increasing list of products, trade ceases to be a two-way affair, but becomes one-way only with the U.S. pouring out its goods to countries able to pay for them only by credit. When that credit is withdrawn, as it must be sooner or later, both U.S. and its customer will suffer.

Editorial Paragraphs

Substantial contributions were made by Newmarket industry to the recent Hospital for Sick Children building appeal. Some of the contributions, made before the organization of a Newmarket campaign committee, went directly to Toronto without acknowledgement in Newmarket. Industry generally is a generous contributor to such campaigns reflecting considerable credit upon local management.

The conferring upon Mr. Dewey Kuhns of an honorary citizenship in Newmarket as a mark of appreciation and respect for his efforts towards the artificial ice project was an act which has the whole-hearted approval of the town. Mr. Kuhns is comparatively new to Newmarket but he had made himself very much a citizen by his active interest in the community. His honorary citizenship confirms what has long been unofficially acknowledged.

The honorary citizenship conferred upon Mr. Dewey Kuhns establishes something of a precedent in Newmarket. As far as the town clerk, Mr. Wesley Brooks, is aware, this is the first such honor ever granted by Newmarket. Just what the "rights" and "responsibilities" of an honorary citizen are is not recorded. We are sure Mr. Kuhns will regard them well, whatever they may be.

We had guests for the weekend. During the course of an evening's conversation we talked of man's proposed trip to the moon. From scientific sources we learned that as soon as man can harness atomic energy and use it in a rocket ship, flying to the moon will be a piece of cake, I should say, feasible.

One of our guests pondered about the idea and declared that if someone tapped him on the shoulder and said, "We are going to the moon tomorrow," he would accept the offer. How could he say no?

The prospect of a GINGERIAN trip to the moon caught my immediate fancy. I should be able to copyright a story on such a lunar expedition and live off the fat of the dividends for the rest of my life. Sensing my thoughts, my better half, Isabella, sent forth a volley of reprimands suppressing my dreams of an astral expedition. My insurance would not pay off, she said. Females always must bring in reality to destroy all enjoyment of the freshness of the male mind's occasional fancy.

Our discussions pressed ever farther into the realm of infinity, beyond the moon until we were puddling along in our rocket ship on our theoretical way to Jupiter and Saturn and such places. We would even pause to discuss motor trouble in the right steering rocket.

"Man the starboard auxiliary!" someone shouted and we were on our way again.

Many problems arose. There was no gravitational pull of any account and loose articles would not stay on the floor of the space ship.

Pencils and papers floated around in the rocket control room. Someone poured out a pitcher of water and it disseminated into space in tiny droplets. When we washed the dishes, we set them in rows two feet off the floor to dry. It's a good thing we had our magnetic boots or else we wouldn't have been able to keep upright. We were forced to turn back to earth, however, because meteors and shooting stars were increasingly difficult to dodge.

No one had ever landed a rocket ship before. The problem became more and more heavy on our minds as we accelerated toward earth again. The gravitational pull towards earth increased our speed at an alarming rate and of course, our ship had no wings to enable us to level it off for a horizontal landing. Faster and faster dived the ship toward earth and closer and closer we came to this ticklish problem. Our altimeter registered 10,000 feet and suddenly there was a rending crash.

Isabella served, coffee and sandwiches.

fact is, we have been played for — there is a word but it looks bad in print.

We think the first lesson the farmer must learn is to stop saying "they" and say "we." We mean each one of us is willing to do his part. Those farmers who are capable of leadership should come forward, the rest of us consider what would be right for each farmer to contribute in money. Twenty-five years ago the whole milk producers' association was only in the minds of a very few men, nearly a lifetime of work. One of the hardest things leaders in any project have to contend with, is to try and think for the people. Every farmer plans for his crop and breeding program and the way of least resistance was to let the government handle our produce.

But why look back? Let us look forward for a change. It has been said if you want to succeed you must study or copy those who are a success. We are told that overseas Canadian manufactured goods are sold a lot cheaper than in Canada. The price level is held in the home or domestic market so that the exporter can meet competitive prices.

Do we need a controlled farm economy in Canada? Our strongest farm groups in Ontario is the whole-milk producers. Would or could this group take over the whole milk, butter and cheese industry as one group, the hog, beef and sheep producers another, poultry and turkey, vegetables and fruit, grain producers. This would give us four farm groups. In the army the food rations were figured out to within a very few pounds of what a battalion needed for a day. Our home or domestic market could be estimated and a quota given each farmer.

Our export farm produce price sets the domestic market price. Not so with our manufactured goods. The home market price level is held high enough to show a profit and export can be sold lower. Why should part of our Canadian economy work in direct reverse to the rest?

To say that it is the farmer's fault that these things are, would, we think, put it too mildly. We farmers allowed our produce during the war to be sold below world price level with the expectation that we would receive a price in the post war that would compensate us for our loss. The hard

The Forum:

The editor: This is a letter which I have intended for two years to write.

The required inspiration was found when reading your account of the speech delivered by Mrs. Myrtle Purcell before a meeting of the Home and School Association. The whole text of Mrs. Purcell's address was very interesting and very worthwhile, but I was particularly interested in her reference to the "far from ideal matinee material" offered as entertainment for our children.

This has long been a source of worry and irritation to me, but as long as the currently popular lurid "westerns" and crime shows continue to be so well-attended and therefore profitable, and are not protested, then they will continue to be billed Saturday after Saturday. For this reason I felt it would be futile for one lone mother to approach the theatre management regarding a change of policy, so I did nothing except prevent my children from attending the movies except on the extremely rare occasions when a picture suitable for youngsters was advertised. As a result, the children see a movie on an average of three times a year, and as they grow older, are beginning to feel rather abused in that respect.

Now it has been suggested that a committee be formed of representatives from women's organizations to work with the local theatre manager in obtaining suitable matinee material. I heartily endorse this suggestion and do hope that all other mothers who feel as I do in this matter will speak now in unison, so that we may be heard.

A great constructive, educational-inspiring influence could be brought to bear on our youth through the medium of the theatre and the use of desirable material.

Mother of Two,
Mrs. K. C. Rusnell.

Editor's note: We have been in touch with Mr. Robert Jack, manager of the Strand theatre, regarding matinee material and he draws attention to limiting factors which, so far, cannot be easily overcome.

The Strand recently showed John Steinbeck's Red Pony, a story of boy and his love for a pony and the lessons he learned from his relationship with his pet. The locality of the film was the west but the picture was not a "western" in the usual sense of the word. There was no shooting, for example, no chases between the sheriff and the rustlers or stage-coach robbers.

As far as the children were concerned, the picture was a failure. The children lost interest completely and spent a large part of the afternoon wandering up and down the aisles. Yet the picture was considered ideal for children.

Mr. Jack has other instances when the same difficulty arose; pictures from which children could derive educational and inspiring entertainment were ignored. Only those pictures where there is plenty of wild and woolly action seem to attract the children's interest. The effect of this situation is that the theatre manager is limited in his choice of films by the desires of his audience.

Who Are They Supporting?

The Financial Post

Despite the best efforts of their own and other advertising authorities, Canadian businessmen throw many thousands of dollars away each year on what James C. Lightbody in the current issue of Marketing bluntly terms "support" rackets. These schemes range from moderate contributions to souvenir programs which nobody sees, to much larger handouts to special publications or services ostensibly set up to fight communism or perform some other work.

"It is hard to kill the old idea that newspapers must be patronized by means of advertising," remarks the writer in Marketing. "There are still businessmen who regard advertising mainly as a handout to the papers." There may have been some slight truth in that in the old, old days but it is not so today. Real advertising like any other quality product is sold on the basis of value received. "You scratch my back and I'll scratch yours," has no place in modern merchandising.

Marketing concludes its article with this sound bit of advice:

"Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce and other centres scrutinize appeals for advertising and report to their members. The object of such reports is to acquaint members with the facts and let them act for themselves. If businessmen would accept this guidance, the cause of legitimate advertising would receive considerable assistance and much money would be diverted from spurious to recognized media."

Mrs. Purcell mentioned a Children's Film Library as a source of good matinee material. Most of them have been shown at the local theatre; few of them fall within the class of film which experience has shown will hold children's attention.

The letter printed above expresses, we are sure, the opinion of a good many mothers, and Mr. Jack has assured us of his complete willingness to co-operate to the fullest extent with any committees which may be formed. He suggests, however, that the limitations upon his choice of material, established by the desires of the children themselves, is not a factor which can be easily overcome.

An Aurora Opinion

By

RAY WILLIAMS

Aurora Editor

Tch tch gentlemen! We are told that last Tuesday night at the Aurora Board of Trade meeting, tempers reached the breaking point during the discussion about the new site for the Hydro substation and office. And then, after a vote was taken and it was decided to sell the back section of the lot next to the town hall to the Hydro, some of the members of the board who voted in favor of the sale expressed their disapproval.

It was agreed by everyone that the best location for the new substation would be the north 70 feet of the public school property. The only people who didn't agree to that are those who control the property, the public school board.

In the first resolution made by the Board of Trade some three weeks ago, it was planned to reserve the front section of its Yonge Street lot for a business house, give the back area to the town for a free parking lot and help the hydro commission obtain a section of the public school property.

But, Dr. E. J. Henderson, chairman of the school board, stood up and made it clear the public school board was hanging on to all the property it had.

So-o the alternative left was to turn Indian, take the property proposed to be given to the town for a parking lot and sell it to hydro commission. Yup, and that's just what they did and the price asked and received was $2,000.

Now, the changes from the first resolution passed by the board of trade will be that the town will be without a free parking lot, the pupils attending the town hall classes will have no place to play and some of the property at the back of the public school will lay idle.

Long before the meeting, it was known to the hydro commission and the board of trade that the public school board would hang on for dear life to all the property it owned, and in an effort to save the time, the hydro commission had the property it now owns surveyed on the afternoon before the vote concerning the sale took place. If that isn't confidence, then what is?

It will likely only be a few weeks now until the hydro starts turning the first sods, and the minute it does, the noise and racket will create a disturbance that will be hard to overcome by the children attending classes in the town hall. It means also that at recess period in the morning and afternoons those same pupils will have no playing area.

1 Short Of Quorum Holland Authority Meeting Adjourned

Lacking a quorum, the organization meeting of the Holland River Conservation Authority at Aurora high school was adjourned last night. A second meeting will be called within two weeks. The Conservation Authorities Act, under which the local authority is being formed, requires a vote of two-thirds of the member municipalities to establish the authority. The required quorum for such a vote was short by one.

Members of the proposed Holland River authority (municipalities which lie wholly or partly within the Holland River watershed) are the towns of Aurora, Newmarket and Bradford, York townships of King, Whitby, East and North Gwillimbury, Albion township in Peel, and Tecumseh and West Gwillimbury in Simcoe.

A. H. Richardson, chief conservation engineer, department of planning and development, told the meeting what the functions and purposes of the local authorities are. "At the end of 1949, there were 14 local authorities," he said, "covering an area of 9,000 square miles."

A local authority is financed by member municipalities according to the benefits they receive from any undertaking of the authority. The provincial government assists by means of grants in large undertakings which would strain the finances of the authority members. The purpose of the authority is to initiate schemes which would help conserve soil and water, control floods, reclaim land. Councillor Harold Pringle, Aurora, one of the two municipalities which had requested the formation of authority, said Aurora was immediately interested in the project because of its concern with its water supply. "We get our water from artesian wells and so water conservation is a matter of great concern with us. We think the establishment of a conservation authority is the best move we could undertake."

ARMITAGE

The wet snow and slippery driving conditions on Saturday night was indirectly responsible for a very serious accident on Yonge St. at Bluebird Inn when a car driven by Mr. John Bazil, Toronto, went into a skid and collided with a Gray coach bus. Sorry to hear Mrs. W. Terry's mother is quite ill again and wish her a speedy recovery.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Alf. Lewis who received word her brother, George Brown, passed away on Thursday, Jan. 19, in Saskatoon hospital. Mr. Brown has suffered from arthritis for several years and although showing some improvement from time to time, his death was unexpected and a great shock to the family.

Master Michael Foster was host to a number of little friends at a birthday party on Saturday afternoon.

IT'S A Woman's World

BY CAROLINE E. ION

On Thursday evening Louis Bromfield, newspaperman, author of a number of best sellers and a veteran himself, spoke to a gathering in the Sunnybrook hospital auditorium after having completed five previous addresses on that same day. Needless to say the man was exhausted and practically talked-out, but his relaxed manner and fluency made it remarkably easy to listen to him. That was despite the fact that we had already spent two hours listening and sitting in a warm, very crowded auditorium.

Mr. Bromfield addressed his ideas which were shared by at least 99 percent of his listeners for it was mainly in these considerations as well as their love of the earth and growing things that prompted them to get away from the big cities' bustle and confusion. In this present over-organized world of today, it seems that only in the small towns and in the country do children and adults have the opportunity to think for themselves; to live leisurely and to enjoy fun of their own making rather than having everything prepared and ladled in spoonfuls for them.

Earlier in the evening John Weall spoke on landscaping suitable for the small home. Mr. Weall's wit and ability to draw as he talks giving visual proof of his theories make him a favorite of all audiences. His students at the Ontario Agricultural College are most fortunate to have a humorous professor who so successfully combines his horticultural knowledge with some jolly laughs.

We had heard Mr. Weall at the OHA convention at Niagara Falls in 1947 and had enjoyed him at that time very much. When he spoke to the North Toronto Horticultural Society last fall they had close to 600 at their meetings. If we could be assured of really good-sized audiences in Newmarket it might be possible to have Prof. Weall address an open meeting of the local horticultural society. Mr. Weall is much opposed to the stereotyped form of landscaping which is practised so extensively today. He advocates introducing individuality and originality in planning the surroundings of your home.

Mrs. J. E. Morris Tells Of C.N.I.B. Program

Mrs. J. E. Morris, chairman of the Newmarket branch of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, was the guest speaker at the January meeting of the Catholic Women's League which was held in St. John's school. Mrs. Henry Moore presided. The meeting was well attended despite the inclement weather.

Mrs. Morris spoke on the work of the CNIB and dealt specifically with local projects and responsibilities. Her interesting talk was well received.

Plans were completed for the holding of a euchre in the school on Thursday, Feb. 9. A progressive bridge is being held by the league at St. John's school this evening. Following the meeting delicious refreshments were served and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Halloran Leaving For Galt

Newmarket Horticultural Society has lost the services of two of its best workers in the moving of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Halloran to Galt. Mr. O'Halloran was juvenile committee chairman in 1949 and his going will leave a vacancy on the board of directors. Mrs. Czernick is juvenile chairman for 1950. Mrs. O'Halloran was the society's social convener.

At the annual meeting which was held in the town hall on Tuesday evening, the president, A. A. Reinke, called attention to their contributions to the work of the organization and wished them every success in their new home.

Trinity W.A. To Present Poetess Edna Jacques

Edna Jacques, writer and entertainer, will be presented to the public by the Woman's Association of Trinity United church, Newmarket, on Monday evening, Jan. 30. Miss Jacques whose poetry appears regularly on the editorial page of the Toronto Daily Star, has written for the Times-Herald, Moosejaw, the Province, Vancouver; Chatelaine, Free Press, Winnipeg; MacLean's, Saskatchewan Farmer and many other periodicals and newspapers. Some of her books are "Beside Still Waters," "My Kitchen Window," "Roses in December," and "At Aunt Hattie's Place."

Edna Jacques has a way with her which appeals both to men and women. An evening of her poetry is not a staid affair, but one of laughter. She was born in Collingwood where her father had sailed with the old Northern Navigation Company for years. In 1902 he moved his family to a homestead in Saskatchewan where they began their farming by making all the mistakes which green-horns can. Her poetry reflects her realistic approach to life. In the introduction to her collection of poems, "At Aunt Hattie's Place," it is written, "Through all her work there shines like a thread of pure gold, her love of beauty; her hunger and thirst for everything that is sweet, and honest and kindly."

RETURNS HOME

Mrs. Orval Brillinger, who had been a patient at York County hospital for about three weeks, returned to her Newmarket home on January 19 where she is convalescing.

The well dressed Miss (size 1 or 2) will have at least one madeira dress. A shop in Newmarket. Made with short sleeves and curved V-neck they were in grey with white and yellow or white and maroon stripes. Very striking worn with a grey skirt and a cardigan in one of the colors.

Something really quite different seen in the Marigold Gift Shoppe was "Nice-Cubes." They are tasteless, odorless, gaily colored plastic cubes with pure water sealed inside. You use them just like ordinary ice cubes but they do not dilute your drink and can be frozen again and again. Susie's glass of milk will be more exciting with a "nice-cube" in it. An ideal bridge prize.

A tip from Betty: Gray nail tips? Scrub with a nail brush, then use nail white. Never clean with a metal file, it roughens the surface and makes dirt cling.

THE HOMEMAKERS

Three New Apple Dishes

In January such varieties as McIntosh, Jonathan, Rome Beauty, Northern Spy, Stayman, Grimes Golden and Yellow Newton are good general-purpose apples. Rhode Island Greening is a little too tart for the average taste when eaten raw but is among the best for cooking.

No matter how good the apple pie and applesauce, there is no reason why they should be the only apple dishes served. A new recipe using apples should be welcomed by the homemaker and here are three for you to try.

APPLE BREAD

2 Cups sifted all-purpose flour or

2 1/2 Cups sifted pastry flour

1/4 Tsp. salt

1 Tsp. baking soda

1 Tsp. baking powder

1/2 Cup shortening

1/2 Cup sugar

1 Cup grated unpeeled raw apple

1/2 Cup wheat germ

1/2 Cup sour milk

Mix and sift flour, salt, baking soda and baking powder. Cream shortening, add sugar and cream well together. Add apple and wheat germ. Add dry ingredients alternately with sour milk. Bake in a greased loaf pan, 4 1/2" x 10", in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, for about 45 minutes.

APPLESAUCE PUDDING

3 Cups sweetened applesauce

2 Egg yolks

1/2 Tsp. grated lemon rind

1/2 Tsp. vanilla

4 Egg whites

1/2 Tsp. salt

3 Tbsp. brown sugar

1/2 Tsp. vanilla

Place applesauce in a bowl. Beat egg yolks, add lemon rind and the 1/2 tsp. vanilla. Add to applesauce. Place mixture in a baking dish. Set dish in a pan of hot water and oven-poach in a very slow oven 300 degrees, for 15 minutes. Make a meringue of the egg whites, salt, brown sugar and the half tsp. of vanilla. Heap on the apple mixture, return to oven and bake ten minutes longer. Serve hot or very cold with cream. Yield: six servings.

APPLE CREAM

2 Tbsp. gelatine

3 Egg yolks

1/2 Cup cold water

1/2 Tsp. salt

1/2 Cups milk

1/2 Cups applesauce

3 Egg whites

Soak gelatine in cold water. Make a custard of egg yolks, salt and milk. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture coats the spoon. Dissolve gelatine in hot mixture. Cool. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in applesauce and stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into moulds and chill. Garnish with a little applesauce. Yield: six servings.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Rigler, Keswick, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday, Jan. 29. They were married by Rev. Geo. Nesbitt, Sutton. Mrs. Rigler is the former Isabel Crittenden.

For 32 years Mr. and Mrs. Rigler lived on and operated the farm where Mr. Rigler was born, now the Miami Beach subdivision. The farm house and buildings are owned now by Mrs. J. LaRue.

Mrs. Rigler was born on the farm on the 6th concession, North Gwillimbury, now owned by Mr. George Fairbarn. Mrs. Rigler's mother died when she was four years old and for several years before her marriage she lived with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Miller, Lakehurst, Roche's Point, now the residence of Mrs. Arnold Matthews.

Mr. Miller owned and operated the excursion boat "Enterprise" on Lake Simcoe and Mrs. Rigler recalls that a light was kept burning in the tower of Lakehurst to guide the boat at night.

Mr. and Mrs. Rigler had five children, three boys who died in infancy and two girls, Rose, Mrs. Cecil Grant, Keswick, and Gertie, Mrs. Ross Stiles, of the 8th concession, North Gwillimbury. There are five grandchildren, Gordon, Jim, Helen, Ruth and Gertrude Stiles.

Twenty-eight years ago Mr. and Mrs. Rigler retired from the farm to live in Keswick. They were both members and workers in the Methodist church and later the United church. Mrs. Rigler has been an ardent worker in the women's association doing various kinds of needlework and quilts for sale at bazaars.

At present Mr. and Mrs. Rigler are 83 and 82 respectively, are active, in good health, attend church regularly and are interested in church and community activities.

YOUNG HOPEFULS BY DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

Child's Source Of Learning

Harvey, teenager, who was caught cheating on a written assignment, blames himself — not for cheating, but for getting caught.

Young people, who seek to outsmart their teachers and outshine their classmates by devising way to successfully cheat their way through school, are headed in the wrong direction. They are developing a code of ethics that teaches they can go to any extreme just as long as they aren't caught.

When Harvey was caught cheating, he was very annoyed with himself for having "slipped up." His escapes from detection on all previous occasions, not only raised his marks considerably—but gave him confidence in his ability to get away with it, indefinitely.

The recent exposure did hurt Harvey's pride. However, in explaining the situation at home, Harvey didn't feel guilty because he had cheated, but he admitted he wouldn't have cheated if he had expected to be caught. "It's like you, Mom; you don't mind speeding, but you hate getting caught doing it." The same with you, Dad; you'd be as mad as anything if you got caught doing the government out of some of your income tax — but you don't mind "doing the government," do you?"

Without realizing it, many parents are practising an unhealthy code of ethics before their children. They boast of outsmarting the law and the government, and seem to take pleasure relative to the size of their offence. With so many poor examples for children to follow, the wonder is there aren't more juvenile delinquents.

In the classroom as elsewhere, temptations to cheat should be minimized. Assignments should be so arranged that honest effort receives sufficient compensation to inspire the student to put forth more effort of the same calibre.

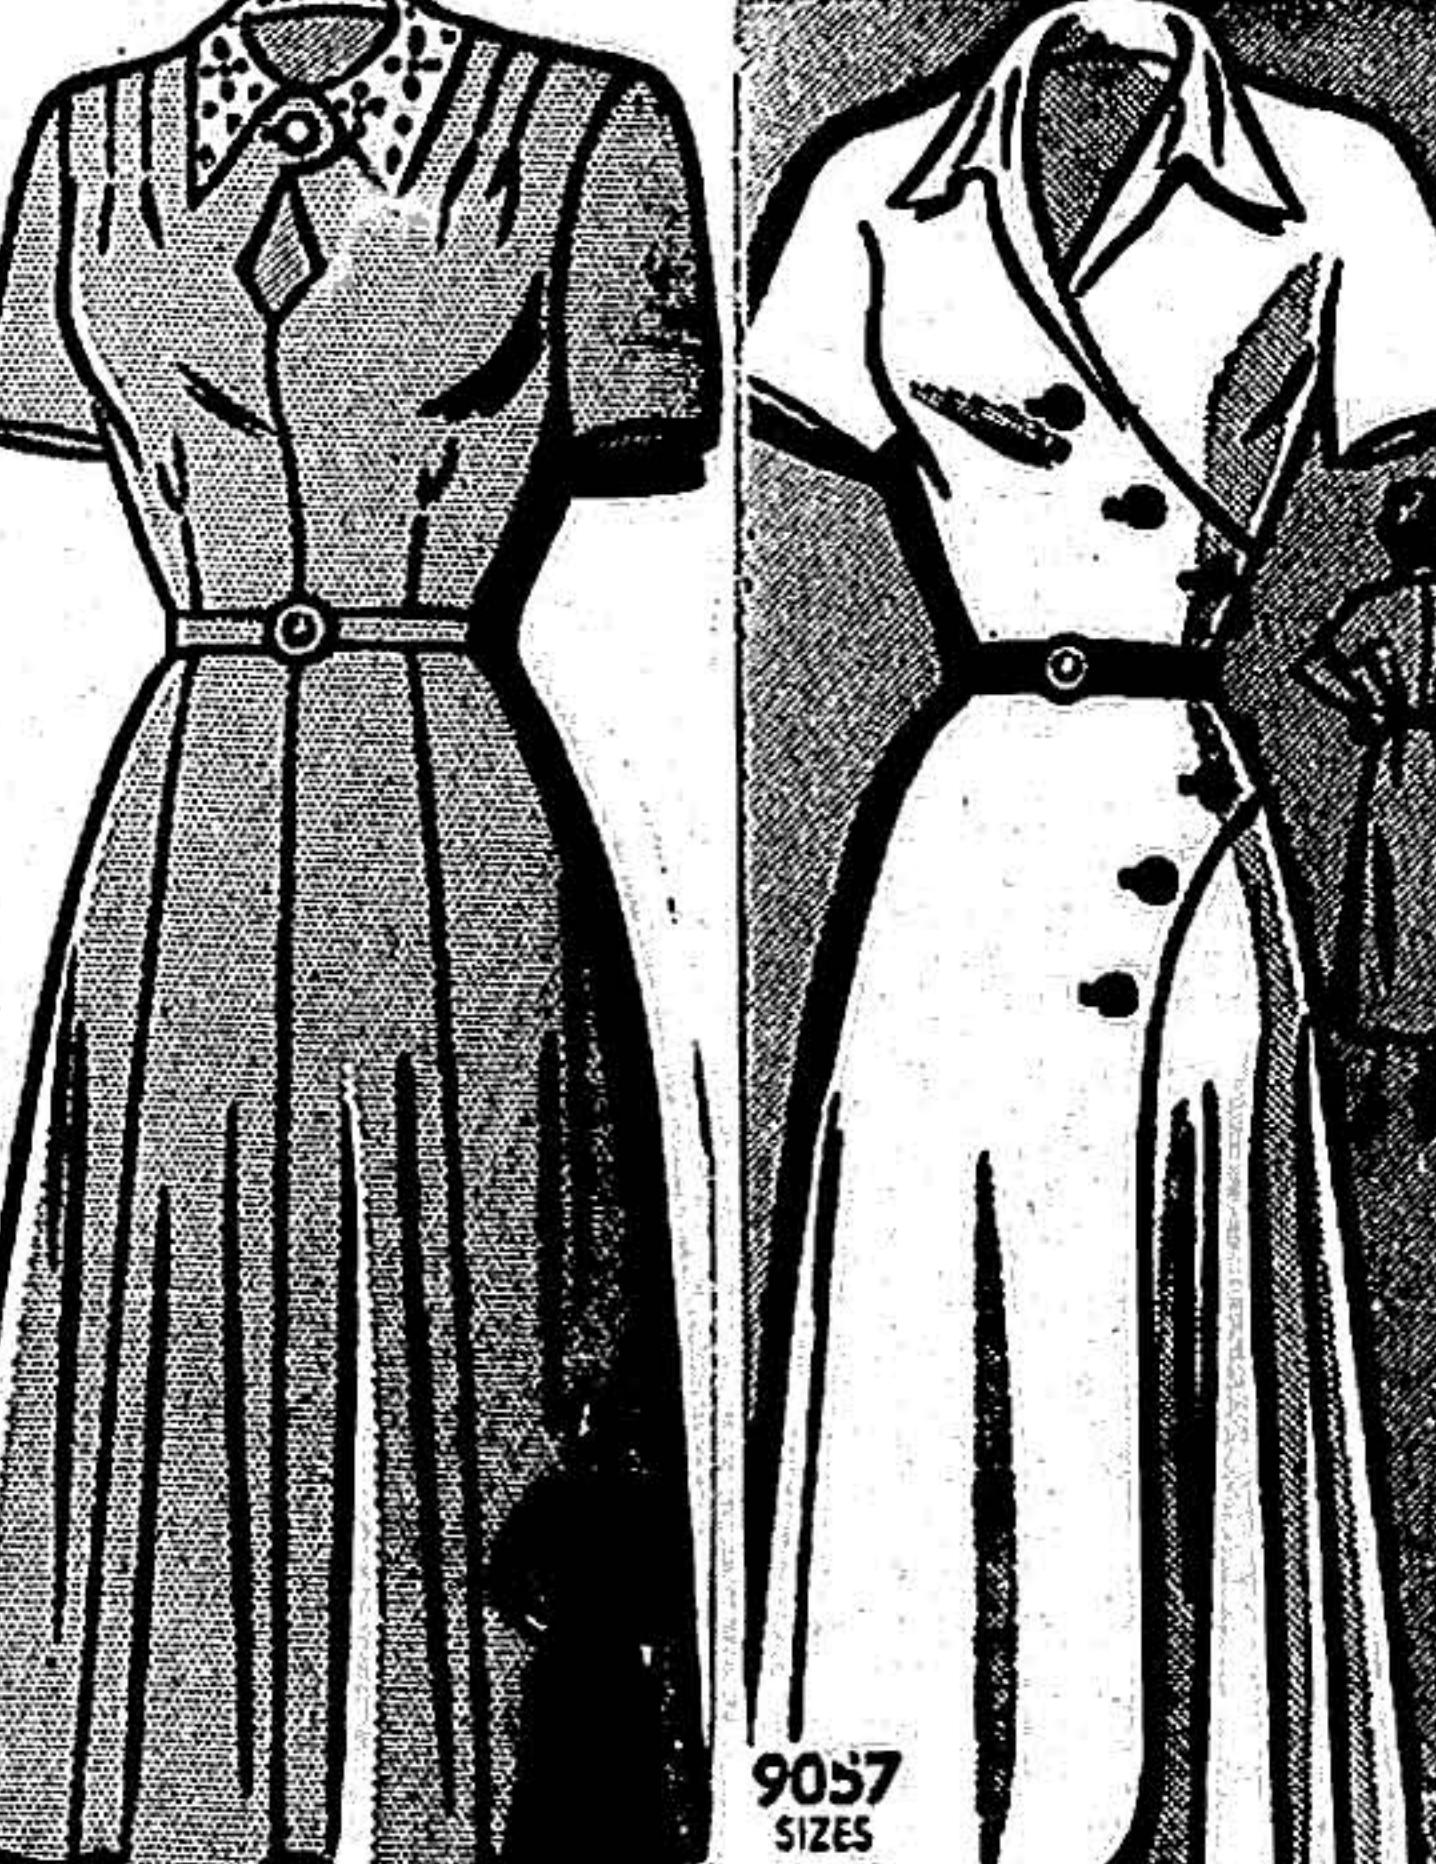

Code of ethics aren't taught or preached effectively in one vein, while they are lived in another. Examples of honesty and fair play at home and at school should predominate the lives of young people, during their formative years, if these young people are expected to develop into self-respecting, dependable and conscientious citizens.

Otherwise, the fear of getting caught may be the one and only restraining influence toward a life of deceit and social corruption.

CROCODILES

Now and again you catch part of something being broadcast over the radio that makes you wish you had been listening more intently. But we so often listen in with only one ear or it goes in one ear and out of the other, which perhaps sounds more like the truth! Then we try to recall just what was said. Two things evaded me today. One I got more or less, but the other I missed and I was sorry for I think it said there was to be another expedition launched from Turkey to have a further search for Noah's ark. As I am keenly interested, as are a good many others, in that subject, I was sorry to miss it.

However, I did hear the first one I mentioned and Lowell Thomas had it over again this evening. No doubt a good many of you heard it also. It was about Cleopatra, the crocodile, but just where it lived I can't recall, for I was laughing.

I think, though, it was New York zoo. I heard it twice today and one of the newscasters said that Cleopatra would have plenty to talk about when she got back to the crocodile pool, telling about her "operation". It seems she got a very bad "tummy ache", so they decided to operate, and what a list of things they discovered inside poor Cleopatra. Thirty-nine pop bottles, a quantity of marbles and rocks and what not and it ended up with a toy elephant.

Dinosaur's Relative

Lowell Thomas, commenting on the adventures of two Canadian brothers, Doug and Warren Wilkins, was thoroughly enjoyed on Thursday evening at the United church. This technicolor travelogue with movies and stills of Paris, the Riviera, Chateau, Andorra, one of the world's smallest countries nestled high up in the Pyrenees. A country which Napoleon said should be kept for a museum and we agree when seeing the pictures.

A picturesquie account of the adventures of two Canadian brothers, Doug and Warren Wilkins, was thoroughly enjoyed on Thursday evening at the United church. This technicolor travelogue with movies and stills of Paris, the Riviera, Chateau, Andorra, one of the world's smallest countries nestled high up in the Pyrenees. A country which Napoleon said should be kept for a museum and we agree when seeing the pictures.

Present-day Spain under Franco, Gibraltar, mysterious North Africa, Tangiers, Fez, Algiers and south to the Sahara, land of sun, sand and famous Foreign Legion, sunny Italy, the Isle of Capri and through the Great St. Bernard Pass to the mountains of Switzerland and back home again by a Norwegian freighter on which they had worked their way over.

The pictures all taken by the boys were fine and one felt they had a wonderful trip through the old world and saw pictures of marvelous work hundreds of years old in buildings and carvings.

Farmers, Consider

1. A reduction of 15 to 20% in farm flocks would result in an egg shortage.
2. Home consumption uses 85% of all the eggs produced in Canada.
3. Hatcheries report reduction in orders from 50% to 90 percent.
4. Poultry industry officials predict that next fall Canada may have to import eggs.
5. While the market in Great Britain is gone, it is by no means certain that ALL export markets are gone.

What Should We Do Now!

1. Rigidly cull the laying flock.
2. House no more hens than you have adequate room for.
3. The farmer who looks ahead should secure early hatched chicks NOW.
4. The prices of coarse grains and feed wheat can still drop substantially before floor prices become effective.
5. Remember, there are more Canadians to eat eggs than ever before.

Feature attraction will be a regularly scheduled senior B game between Toronto Eclipse A.C. and Markham Millionaires. The Millionaires need no introduction and the ex-Toronto Varsity players who comprise the Toronto club handed the 1,000,000's their first loss of the season last Friday 6-4. It should be a piperoof! Figure skaters, clowns, civic and visiting dignitaries, music and, we hope, not too much palaver will mark the occasion. See the "gen" on the teams elsewhere. You'll agree the hockey should be tops. Seems too bad, though, that for an "official opening" two outside teams should draw the honor.

On Tuesday next none other than Newmarket Spitties will be featured in what is definitely a game of "main bout" proportions. No need to mention, the close rivalry, the friendly kidding, the "brotherly love" between the players, the upset the Indians caused when they invaded the Canaltown long-house and came home with a few scalps at their belt. Since then, the Spitties have been bumped about more than somewhat, but invariably in a game in Aurora the visiting firemen rise to super heights. Rogers and Haskett may have been smoking the pipe of peace lately, but somebody's face between the two will be red as a Cigar Store Indian's come next Wednesday.

With no reserved seats, we advise you to get your pew early before the S.R.O. goes out for the first time this year.

Old master painter from the far away hills as a result of his decisions via the O.H.A. committee room is fast becoming public enemy No. 1 so far as Aurora and district hockey fans are concerned. First of all after apparently giving the nod for Smith, Calhoun and Dillon of Weston to play with Aurora Hawks, he ruled that they could not play for Aurora and that is final! Next he stepped in and refused to pass the playing certificates of captain Vic Meharg, Murray Brandon and Tex Groves of the Aurora Indians. Meharg, Brandon and Groves all hail from either Markham Millionaires or Stouffville Clippers who rate as senior B and Aurora is their nearest intermediate B club. Add to that the fact that Meharg and Brandon played with Aurora last season and regard the Indians as "their club".

The waiver rule which used to allow teams even in the same series to pass players through territory to the extent of at least 25 miles, has gone by the boards this season. Practically, that means if a player can't make a team in his area he can't play anywhere else, because of the fact that there is a club there in operation. Panter is said to have ruled that the players are Markham property as Markham is closer than the five-mile excess limit in favor of players who wish to choose between two competing teams in the same area. How this can apply if this is so when Markham is senior B is a mystery.

On this preface Aurora might claim to possibly Herbie Rose, Norm Stenden and Mac Clement who hail from Richmond Hill. The blow to the up-and-coming Indians is a terrific one as it happens in mid-season with little time for replacements. Senior B teams are allowed four imports as compared to two for intermediate B. The referees are paid a different rate for the games so that on the O.H.A. rules alone there is a distinct difference.

Aurora on any logical reasoning is the intermediate centre for the three players.

As we wrote this, Messrs. Rogers and Haskett and company were preparing to board the lion in his den with an ultimatum from the Metro circuit teams.

Even if they succeeded in altering the decision we still think the public should know the facts. Now bear in mind the definite fact that the teams in "The Met" while deadly enemies on the ice, are country cousins and there's nary a squawk from one team or the other as to what players perform for the other clubs.

"Swift" Todd of Spitties for instance might rate in Aurora territory, Bill Mabb

Spits Sink Navy Earning 10-7 Score

Our Spitties, after slipping off the victory trail in their last two starts, snapped back last Thursday. Navy Vets came in billed as "Destroyers." They went away "punt size" after the Spits had whittled away at them for 60 minutes. Spits earned a 10-7 verdict.

Both goal-keepers found it anything but a fine evening. The score indicates the Navy kept close. They did, but mainly because Fred Dillman in our goal ran into a lot of grief. "Dilly" it seems wanted to show the visitors a bit of northern hospitality and let the odd shot filter through that usually he would have stowed away in his hip pocket without too much trouble. "Mister" Munn in the Vets goal spent most of his time fishing the puck out of the net but Spits were firing more rubber at him than Goodyear produces in a week.

Spits pulled away to a 3-1 lead in the first, outran the Navy 4-3 in the second, while the teams split three goals apiece in the final 20 minutes.

All three front strings hoisted over the boards by coach Stan Smith had some of their early season passing down pat and split the scoring fairly evenly. Normie Legge proved the number one asset going all out for the hat trick. His centre mate, Bill Johnston, sank one while the third part of the trio, Don Smith, played three assisting notes. The Todd-McInnis-Gibbons combo fired three goals, our country boy, "Swiftly" bopped in two, Myles McInnis one and Stan. Gibbons playing some of his best hockey this year knotted a pair of assists. Harry

Forhan Sparks Banties To Stouffville Win

Bob Forhan, who usually confines his goal-scoring antics to the local Optimist bantam league, carried them further afield Monday p.m. Bob gave the Stouffville fans and bantams a generous sample of his worth, firing home three goals, as Frank Hollingsworth led his bantam all-stars against Stouffville. Our Optimist bantam all-stars brought home a fine 8-1 triumph in their first outing as next week. Game time is 9 p.m. These juveniles of ours are our future junior and Metropolitan League squads. They are playing a fast skating, slick passing, crowd pleasing hockey and deserve your support. Let's see if we can get a good house for them. The return game is booked for Stayner, home ice of Elmville, on Thursday, Feb. 2.

In the town league Optimist doings last Friday, Marlboros romped to a 5-1 win over the lowly Spitties. Bob Forhan and Delwyn Creed shared the scoring spotlight for the winners with two goals each. Marilyn Bales dunked the fifth. Glen Keffer and Bob Wilson combined for the Spits' lone.

Caradonna and "Fink" Tunstead went on record with a goal each.

Cliff Gunn shot in a single, "Whitey" Bone earned two assists.

Fact is our defence quartet of Deb. Cooper, Joe Peat and Gunn did a lot of rushing and scurrying back to stop Navy thrusts, Joe Peat being the main rush stopper.

In basketball high school seniors won a 44-28 victory over Pickering College North York seniors' quintet. Jerry Hugo was the bright star in the win with 32 points.

The N.H.S. girls, not to be outdone, boasted a pair of triumphs over Aurora on the basketball floor, seniors winning 28-11, juniors 27-8.

In hockey, the high school seniors defeated Pickering College 1-0 in an actionful, suspenseful tilt. Bruce Langford got a break-away to fire home the lone counter of the contest.

Both net-minders, Joe Burke in the high school strings, and Deacon and Congden who shared the Pickering goal, gave out fine displays.

High school: goal, K Burke; defence, F. Morton; B. Rogers; centre, R. Coveney; wings, H. Ash, M. McDonald; alternates, A. McKnight, B. Langford, F. West, M. Couch, W. Gilbert.

Pickering College: goal, Congden and Deacon; defence, McGuire, Peters; centre, Menzie; wings, Rundle, Mihel; alternates, Underhill, McCrae, Dempsey, Snider, Hathaway, Baril, Sumner, Vassar, Richmond.

No, not again. More to do about players in the Trolley circuit.

Harold "Indian" Rogers, Bill Foote and "Dinty" Moore are having troubles.

Rogers gets back a trio of certificates without O.H.A. from O.H.A.

They're Vic Meharg, Murray Brandon and the Indians new defenseman, Grove.

How the O.H.A. figures this out is the $64 question.

The former pair was with Aurora last year.

Their residence is perhaps closer to Markham or Stouffville.

The latter teams apparently don't want 'em.

So what gives? Does it mean the trio has to sit home

toasting their toesies by the fire

because of some blankety-blank ruling? Does sound like a flying trip to the O.H.A. for trouble-shooters Hines and Rogers. Don't back up. Give 'em the story down there. Aurora needs those men, if necessary Metro loop can

Hoffman Rockets Meet Elmvale in Opener Of O.M.H.A. Playdowns

The Ontario Minor Hockey Association isn't wasting any time in sending out juvenile entry, Hoffman Rockets, into action. Word received Wednesday of this week is that our juveniles have drawn Elmvale in the first round. The opening game of home and home, goals to count, series is slated for attention at the arena on Tuesday of next week. Game time is 9 p.m.

These juveniles of ours are our future junior and Metropolitan League squads. They are playing a fast skating, slick passing, crowd pleasing hockey and deserve your support. Let's see if we can get a good house for them. The return game is booked for Stayner, home ice of Elmville, on Thursday, Feb. 2.

Well, some fans who like heaps of scoring are getting it this year in the Trolley circuit. There have been one or two exceptions.

Notably that Aurora-Navy saw-off, a one-all deadlock. Thursday Spits fired 10, Navy 7. Friday Sutton potted 8, Spits 6.

Saturday Bradford and Sutton split an even dozen.

Maybe it's wrong to blame it all on the guys wearing the big pads.

Could be that the defenses are worrying more about carrying the biscuit than feeding the boys up front. Present day hockey, too, with its scrambles, screened shots, general piling in one end makes for big scores.

Anyhow it's been no picnic for the laddies between the uprights.

Since Joe Tunney has been sidelined, shoulder injury, Freddie Dillman has been having a rough time of it. Fact is, coach Stan Smith would like to snap up another No. 1 netminder. A rare commodity hereabouts just now.

Sutton, when it has Bob

Winch about, is strong in this department.

Bob isn't available all the time so they have their troubles too.

Aurora for the time being at least seems to have its blocking well in hand with Joe Crawford, though his style is a little unorthodox, but who cares, he has been stopping 'em.

Bradford with Ken Tupling doing fine work hasn't any worries in this department.

No, not again. More to do about players in the Trolley circuit.

Harold "Indian" Rogers, Bill

Foote and "Dinty" Moore are having troubles.

Rogers gets back a trio of certificates without O.H.A. from O.H.A.

They're Vic Meharg, Murray Brandon and the Indians new defenseman, Grove.

men's division. Helen Stickwood the ladies with 538 (188, 170,
